<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Interactive not just lecture • All participants engaged multiple times throughout the session • Humor was interjected at approximate times and in correct manner • Excellent facility layout • Very information and engaging • I was able to pay attention better than I usually can. • I liked all of the exercise • Well prepared book and presenters • Stayed on task • Actual meeting was an example of facilitating • Getting a chance to work/collaborate with another side of the state via satellite • Booklet and materials • Good facilitators • Good format and use of time • Organized/prepared • Good role play • The discussion by the leader from the West on "Group Management" (page 10) was extremely helpful in pulling the whole day's discussion/workshop together • Interaction – stayed on topic , on time • Booklet with outline 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Some of the exercises needed more time • Would have liked to have more time to practice the listening speaking and observing exercise • Nothing was mentioned about next step for those who attended the training • Perhaps it will be discussed back at their parish • All participants to role play the "facilitator" in a "mock" Bible study so that they can sharpen their skills • Creating questions right after lunch • Need a more interactive, lighter segway to the afternoon • Sitting so much • A bit more time to develop the questions • Even strain storming it was difficult to come to a consensus quickly • Would love to see the trainer session of this • At start of class, have everyone introduce themselves to whole room • I did like the chance to talk about our first name with those at our table 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The use of Skype for multi location training • The inclusion of different methods for scripture study • Enjoyed and was challenged by the formation of questions • Liked the practice Bible study and critique discussion. • Liked seeing Melanie "at work" • AV equipment – all updated forms of communication • Thanks for the Skype • Should be mandated in the Diocese as a prerequisite before facilitating a group • All priests/deacons should attend this • Bible selections used as examples • New tips on Group Management • Time management • Types of questions was the area I am weakest and appreciated the information even though it was the most difficult • Formulating questions • Breadth and depth of facilitating • The dynamics were helpful • To challenge for the deepening questions • The interaction between Emily, Katie, Bernadette and Melanie was excellent and since each brought their own personality approach/expertise, this made the day

<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Resources book with space for notes• Different speakers• Relaxed atmosphere• The mock Bible Study was cute but may have been able to be a little more concise• Team facilitating approach• Exercises well planned• Kept time (Elmo)• The role playing of a group discussion provided a wealth of information on coping with a variety of issues and illustrated well the key points of the workshop• Really enjoyed the brain storming – empowered us to see how much we already knew and can build on• The tools for building questions is a great guide to develop those necessary deepening questions to reach the conversion level we seek• Small group setting with two people. I already knew some people but the opportunity to meet new friends in the Diocese really enhanced my experience• The closing exercise including “bad behavior” plants was perfect way to summarize what we learned.• Enjoyed interactive elements of each segment – making list and sharing with another group always thought of something we did		more exciting <ul style="list-style-type: none">• The two activities (Samaritan 5 questions and Zacchaeus group dynamic) were challenging.• Enjoyed learning how to listen better
